

Science week 2018

Can you stand on plastic cups without breaking them?

We had lots of ideas, including standing on them without our shoes, standing inside the cup on tip toes, standing on more than one at a time and finally found out that we needed to spread our weight across them all using a piece of card.

